

Salisbury International Arts Festival 2011

Shanghai'd by Gracie Spoon The Maltings, Salisbury

I was walking through the Maltings on the last Friday of the Festival and thought, "Hello, why are those trees over there decorated?" I soon discovered that this was all part of a piece of street theatre involving Gracie Spoon, who was serving Chinese teas and telling stories from China, as well as doing some magic tricks and playing games with children. It was very interesting. She had a good audience and gave a very enjoyable performance.
